Innsbruck, ich muss dich lassen

Henrich Issac (1450-1517)

Innsbruck, ich muss dich lassen,
ich fahr dahin mein Straßen,
in fremde Land dahin;
mein Freud ist mir genommen,
die ich nicht weiß bekommen, wo ich im Elend bin.

Innsbruck, I must leave you;
I will go my way
to foreign land(s).
My joy has been taken away from me,
that I cannot achieve
while being abroad.

*Groß Leid muss ich jetzt tragen, das ich allein tu klagen dem liebsten Buhlen mein;
ach Lieb, nun lass mich Armen im Herzen dein erbarmen, dass ich muss von dannen sein!

*I must now bear great sorrow that I can only share with my dearest lover.
Oh love, hold poor me
(and) in your heart compassion that I must be away.

Mein Trost ob allen Weiben, dein tu ich ewig bleiben, stet' treu, der Ehren fromm;
nun muss dich Gott bewahren,
in aller Tugend sparen, bis dass ich wieder komm!

My consolation: above all other women, I will forever be yours,
always faithful, in true honor.
And now, may God protect you, keep you in perfect virtue, until I shall return.
